SUMMARY
KNOWLEDGE MOBILIZATION ACTIVITIES

A summary of the variety and number of Knowledge Mobilization (KM) initiatives is listed below. It includes KM initiatives arising out of On the Move (OTM)-funded work as well as relevant KM initiatives by team members supported through other grants and activities.

Of the 1,148 KM initiatives engaged in to date, 241 are trainee initiatives (presentations, thesis, reports, organized sessions, blog posts, interviews, etc.) and 207 include one or more trainee participants (co-authored presentations/publications, co-organized session, etc.). Included in the trainee numbers are five trainees who have converted to co-investigators.

KNOWLEDGE MOBILIZATION ACTIVITIES

This list includes knowledge Mobilization (KM) initiatives arising out of On the Move (OTM)-funded work as well as relevant KM initiatives by team members supported through other grants and activities. OTM trainees and affiliated trainees are indicated in bold.

1. RESEARCH TOOLS (E.g. databases, archives, directories, bibliographies, etc.)

1A. Reference Database

On the Move's publically available Reference Database (Zotero) is available at:
<http://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/resources/ergm-database/>.

As of October 30, 2020 there are 8,427 references in Zotero.

References are organized into thematic folders including folders for:

Accommodation and ERGM

- Apprenticeships and Education
- Communities and ERGM
- Commuting
- COVID-19 and EGM
- Family and ERGM
- Gender, Work and ERGM
- Health and ERGM
- Fort McMurray
- International Labour Migration
- Labour Market Dynamics
- Media Coverage for Work Related Mobility
- Methods for Studying ERGM
- Mobility Theory

- Sectors and ERGM

1B. INTERVIEWS AND COMPONENT DATA SHARING

Interviews and Surveys

OTM field researchers and a few policy researchers have completed 981 interviews as well as 9 anonymous surveys of diverse groups, and 33 focus groups. The recordings and notes from this field research are in varying states of coding and analysis. Access to the resulting data and datasets will be governed by the consent process, with some recordings, transcripts and databases ultimately open access, but for most access to original transcripts will be limited to component teams or even, in a few cases, to individual researchers. A document listing all datasets noted below with contact information is included in the Memorial University Repository <https://research.library.mun.ca/14248/>

Component Databases

- OTM has funded coding and secondary analysis of a dataset from research funded by the federal government, produced by Delphine Nakache and based on data gathered in 2014–2015 from 99 interviewees with participants from three provinces (Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario), including 48 current and 22 former migrant workers (the latter have become PRs), 4 spokespersons from nongovernmental organizations, 12 employers, 11 public servants (federal, provincial, municipal levels), and 2 labor union representatives. (Delphine Nakache and Leonor Cedillo).
- Online surveys with 36 International Experience Canada (ICE) participants originating from various countries and working in different jurisdictions in Canada. (Delphine Nakache and Mylène Coderre-Proulx)

- Policy component (Lippel) completed 26 interviews with individuals and groups related to occupational health and safety, workers compensation and employment standards in 5 provinces across Canada (British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland and Labrador).
- René David-Cooper completed 5 interviews with professional pilots employed in the Canadian commercial aviation industry related to the effectiveness of Canadian regulations on flight and duty times for professional pilots in Canada
- 25 interviews were conducted with managers, active seafarers and key informants from government and maritime support organizations between July 2017 and April 2018 for the research project Occupational Health and Safety Management for Mariners on Canadian Vessels on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River. (Desai Shan).
- Multiple datasets have been accessed through Statistics Canada including taxfiler and census data on fish harvesters and on Atlantic inter-provincially mobile workers at provincial, regional and community levels. Funding for these datasets has come from On the Move, the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Fund and from the Canadian Council of Professional Fish Harvesters via a contract from the federal government for a study on occupational pluralism among Canadian fish harvesters. Excel tables summarizing the results is included in the OTM folder, Memorial University Research Repository.
 - Economic Region Characteristics: information on various aspects of the population by Economic region. Includes information % of employment, % interprovincial employees, % interprovincial migrants and nearly 40 other elements. Excel spreadsheet summarizing results in Memorial University OTM repository folder.
 - Newfoundland Interprovincial Employee data from the Canadian Employer-Employee Dynamics Database. List of characteristics related to the NL mobile workforce.
 - Fish Harvester and Fish Processor data from the Canadian Employer-Employee Database on mostly income and earnings for fish harvesters and fish processors in Canada, broken down by age, sex, and province for 2000-2017.
 - Atlantic Canadian Interprovincial Employment Trends data for 2003-2010 from the Canadian Employer-Employee Dynamics Database
 - Michael Haan currently has a postdoctoral researcher working with the Temporary Foreign Worker database now at Statistics Canada examining patterns of internal mobility within Canada
 - Haan has a second research assistant doing an analysis of excess commuting (>200 km) for the construction sector across Canada down to the level of individual trades using Census Data.
- Interview and secondary dataset related to mobility and community capacity in Northern British Columbia. Data collected between 2013 and 2019 by BC field researchers (Greg Halseth, Sean Markey and Laura Ryser):
 - Community Impacts of Long Distance Labour Commuting (Mackenzie and Williams Lake) - key informant interviews with businesses, local government, community services, and others (23 in Mackenzie and 25 in Williams Lake).
 - Labour Mobility in Northern BC - 13 interviews with mobile workers engaged in exploration during the exploration phase of the New Gold's Blackwater Project; 42 interviews conducted with mobile workers engaged in construction activities during the construction phase of BC Hydro's Site C project; and 25 interviews were conducted with local workers and 9 interviews were conducted with mobile workers engaged in operations during the Operations phase of the Taseko's Gibraltar mine.

- Transforming Local Government Strategies for Mobile Workforces - 18 key informant interviews with local government stakeholders in Kitimat, Fort St. John, and the Peace River Regional District.
- Labour Mobility: Capturing Benefits for Local Businesses - 45 key informant interviews with businesses, business organizations, and industries in Fort St. John.
- Information on changes in commodity prices (revenues, expenses, assets, liabilities, expenditures for BC and some data provided by region in BC) based on PriceWaterhouseCooper reports on the mining sector.
- A collection of media stories on mining projects and mobile labour from local, provincial, and national newspapers compiled between 2012 and 2013. Stopping tracking issues in mining sector due to decline in commodity prices that resulted in the closures or temporary winding down of operations. Moved to explore opportunities with other industry partners (ie. BC Hydro Site C and from communities (Mackenzie/Williams Lake to Fort St. John's).
- Information on labour used on BC Hydro's Site C Project; Data includes: total # of Site C workers; # of BC workers at Site C; total # of construction and non-construction contractors / workers; # of BC construction and non-construction contractors / workers; total # of project management team; # of BC based project management team; # of temporary foreign workers; # of workers associated with international mobility program; and total # of Peace River Regional District workers. Site C employment statistics (2016-2019) available on-line at: <https://www.sitecproject.com/news-and-information/monthly-employment-statistics>
- Between 2012 and 2020 data collected related to young adult workers in the tourism industry in Banff National Park, Alberta (Angèle Smith).
 - Dataset from an anonymous household survey (33 respondents) of young workers in Banff (Angèle Smith).
 - Dataset from individual surveys of youth workers – Ambassador Workshop (27 respondents).
 - Dataset from 35 one-on-one interviews and 6 focus groups with youth workers.
 - A collection of media stories (2012-2020) from local, provincial, and national newspapers and social media has been tracked throughout the project.
 - Photo essaying, initial introductory on-site interviews with Town of Banff officials and advocacy organizations, and initial demographic information data collection (Angèle Smith).
 - A collection of labour market reviews (hiring/wages/work sectors/housing) to create historical overview and analysis for Golden / Banff. This has included a collection of census reports and tracking statistics in the labour market reports pertaining to tourism workers and temporary foreign workers.
- Mobile Work in the Northern Alberta Oil Sands (Sara Dorow).
 - Database of (90) qualitative interviews with mobile workers in the oil sands region (including oil workers, camp workers, caregivers, and temporary foreign workers), conducted in Fort McMurray, in work camps, and by phone
 - Database from anonymous online survey with 56 Live-in Caregivers in Fort McMurray, Alberta (Dorow, Cassiano and Doerksen). The resulting report can be found here: <http://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/wp-content/uploads/2015/01/Live-in-Caregivers-in-Fort-McMurray-Dorow-et-al.-January-2015.pdf>.
 - Database from a second anonymous online survey with 56 Live-in Caregivers in Fort McMurray, Alberta (Dorow, Cassiano and Belton). The resulting report can be found here: <http://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/wp-content/uploads/2016/04/Caregivers-in-Fort-McMurray-Policy-Perspectives-and-Wildfire-Experiences-Research-Report-June-2016.pdf>

- Dataset from 50 interviews oil sands workers and camp workers, conducted during three visits to work camps from 2014 to 2016 (Sara Dorow, and Sandrine Jean). Data has been used for publicly available projects such as Alberta Stories (www.onthemovepartnership.ca/albertastories)
- Secondary data documenting the history of and volume of fly-in/fly-out operations in Fort McMurray between 2004 and 2014, numbers of camps and migrant workers or shadow population in the Wood Buffalo Region (Marcella Cassiano and Sara Dorow).
- Dataset from 27 confidential interviews with precariously employed immigrant workers in Toronto (Stephanie Premji).
- Labour force survey (2011-15) and Population Census (2016) created at the Research Data Center, Statistics Canada, McMaster University for Waad Khogali Ali. The LFS provides estimates of employment and unemployment across Canada's landscape whilst the Census provides an enumeration of Canada's population based on demographic and socioeconomic characteristics. Both surveys are cross-sectional in design and disaggregated across multiple spatial scales including; national, provincial, CMA, CA and urban-rural.
- Quebec research completed 38 life history interviews. These are being used as the basis for an on-line database using the Centre for Oral History and Digital Storytelling Stories Matter program.
- PEI field component completed 30 semi-structured interviews (20 interviews of individual truck drivers, 8 employers of drivers or company representatives, as well as 2 key informants) on ERGM in the PEI trucking Industry.
- Dataset of 29 interviews conducted with foreign nurses employed in the healthcare sector in the province of Nova Scotia. (Shiva Nourpanah).
- Dataset from interviews and survey of professional and semi-professional health care workers in Nova Scotia (Michael Leiter, Lois Jackson, Ivy Bourgeault, Pauline Gardiner Barber, Audrey Krussingbrink, Sheri Price). 42 interviews and 156 survey responses.
- Dataset from interviews completed between 2014 and 2020 on transportation, commuting, and mobile work in NL. (Sharon Roseman and Diane Royal). Interviews (75) and transcriptions (46) with commuting workers, ferry workers, other mobile workers and key informants.
- Dataset from 14 interviews and 224 surveys on employment-related geographic mobility in Deer Lake, NL (Leanna Butters)
- Database from 131 anonymous surveys with Long Harbour nickel processing workers (Josh Barrett, Heather Hall and Kelly Vodden).
- NL construction key informant and oral histories coded N-Vivo dataset (80 interviews). 17 with trades workers in Isthmus and St. John's area; 25 key informant interviews with government officials, employers, industry associate representatives, union representatives and others; and 38 interviews with workers and key informants on the Burin Peninsula.
- NL apprentice and pre-apprentice focus group and interview dataset (Nicole Power).
 - Apprentice Project: 13 focus groups (N=89) with youth enrolled in apprenticeship programs, work history interviews with 9 apprentices, as well as interviews with 8 key informants and 2 employers.
 - University Project: 5 focus groups (N=17) with young university students and interviews with 3 university students.

- Rural Youth: key informant interviews with 5 CYN Executive Directors and 9 focus groups (N=72) with youth affiliated with the CYN in Placentia, St. Lawrence, Grand Bank, Harbour Grace, Clarenville, and St. John's.
- 33 oral history interviews with workers on offshore oil rigs, tankers and shuttles. Some partners also interviewed. (George Gmelch and Diane Royal). Also video interviews for a documentary film and 5 digital stories. Stories can be viewed here <https://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/results/digital-stories/>
- Dataset from anonymous online survey and interview of individuals (22) within organizational contexts with responsibility for managing employees who are mobile for work. (Kara Arnold).
- Dataset from anonymous online survey (11 responses) and 14 interviews with union representatives on E-RGM and their membership (Elise Thorburn).

2. WEBSITES, WEBPAGES, SOCIAL MEDIA AND BLOGS

2A. WEBSITES AND WEBPAGES

On the Move Partnership Website

- On the Move Partnership (www.onthemovepartnership.ca).
- Google Analytics (between January 1, 2013 and February 13, 2020):
 - Google Analytics demonstrates that the On the Move website overall has received 51,247 sessions and 129,959 page views, from 39,206 users (around 90% first time users).
 - 67% of users are based in Canada and 13% are based in the U.S., but visitors also come from France, Russia, South Korea, the UK, India, Germany, China, Norway and Australia.
 - As a smaller sample, from June 1, 2019 – February 12, 2020 we received 5,439 sessions and 11,012 page views from 4,546 users mainly from Canada (67%) and the US (13%).

OTM Thematic Webpages

- Alberta Stories shares the stories of work-related mobility from three different groups of people: Indigenous people (Métis in northeastern Alberta), Interprovincial/Interregional labour migrants (long-distance commuters to the Oil Sands region), and International labour migrants (temporary work permit holders in central and northern Alberta). Diverse experiences and impacts of E-RGM are found within and across the three sets of stories. At the same time, the stories collectively illuminate the importance of mobilities – and the immobilities that go with them – to the opening up and closing down of life opportunities for people. They show how mobility for work both shapes and is shaped by family situations, socio-historical identities, and communal places and networks. While ‘mobility for work’ mostly refers to paid employment, it also, importantly, includes unpaid labour such as care work or harvesting. <http://albertastories.onthemovepartnership.ca/>
- In the summer of 2018, researchers from On the Move convened in Fort St. John, BC, in partnership with the City of Fort St. John, The Forge, and the University of Northern British Columbia's Community Development Institute to deliver a series of roundtables with area industry and business, local government, education, health, non-profit, and other service sector stakeholders. We've created a webpage to highlight the work done at these roundtables. <http://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/results/fort-st-john/>
- Families in Canada 2019 page provides information on the Families on the Move Satellite conference that was held March 27 and 28, 2019 in St. John's NL in collaboration with the On the Move Partnership, the Canadian Institute for Public Safety Research and Treatment, Military Family Resource Center and the Stephen Jarislowsky Chair in Cultural and

Economic Transformation. <https://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/results/families-in-canada-2019/>

Related Websites

- Mapping Life in Fort McMurray (<http://mappingmcmurray.com/>). A team at the Department of Sociology at the University of Alberta created a website titled Mapping Life in Fort McMurray, which “is the product of a diverse set of research interviews conducted in Northern Alberta, Canada.” The site was supported by a number of grants, including 1) On the Move: Employment-Related Geographical Mobility in the Canadian Context, SSHRC Partnership Grant – Dr. Sara Dorow, Susan Cake and Marcella Cassiano, and (2) Social Landscapes of Fort McMurray, SSHRC Research Grant – Dr. Sara Dorow and Goze Dogu.
- On the Move: Mobile Lives in the Post-Industrial City (<http://postindustrialmontreal.ca/project/move>). The Montreal team developed bilingual web-pages for OTM on the websites of the Centre for Oral History and Digital Storytelling and Post-Industrial Montreal.
- Rural Resilience (<http://ruralresilience.ca/>). Rural Resilience is a website featuring the work of a group of researchers (community-based, government and academic) focused on rural and regional development issues. The website showcases current and recently complete research initiatives, including On the Move.

4. PUBLIC LECTURES OR ADDRESSES

4A. COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Organized Events

Screening of Digital Story – “The Last Generation” (April 23, 2020) is a film about the St. John’s Branch of the CN Pensioners’ Association. It tells the story of what it was like to work in CN’s varied transportation and communication services, which comprised telegraphy, rail, marine, trucking and buses. <https://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/results/digital-stories/>

Roundtable Discussion - Working Away: Maximizing the Opportunities and Minimizing the Challenges (2020). Burgeo, NL There is a long history of working away in Burgeo and other parts of the south coast including in fishing, shipping, oil and gas, construction, work camps, and other sectors. Indeed, the region has one of the highest rates of interprovincial employment in the province of Newfoundland and Labrador. Working away can bring much needed revenue to the household and community, and enhance employment opportunities, but it can also create challenges. It can create dependency at a distance for families and communities making them vulnerable to distant economic changes. It can also create challenges for caregiving, parenting, and for the voluntary sector in communities. April 8th 2020.

Film Screening & Panel Discussion: “Digging in the Dirt” (February 13, 2020). Digging in the Dirt (2019) is a powerful documentary on mobility and mental health in Fort McMurray, AB. Profiling several oil and gas workers, their families, and experts in the field (including OTM Co-Investigator Dr. Sara Dorow), the film explores the benefits and costs of the industry as men share their stories of depression and drug addiction spurred by a toxic mixture of high salaries and machismo work camp culture. Screening followed by a panel discussion with film directors and producers Dylan Rhys Howard and Omar Mouallem, NL Construction Sector Association’s Jackie Manuel, Critical Incident Stress Management for Communities founder Valerie O’Leary, and OTM Co-Investigator Dr. Sara Dorow. <https://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/film-screening-digging-in-the-dirt/>

Public screening of two OTM digital stories (November 27, 2020). “Making the Rounds: Ron Lee’s Lifetime of Service” (2019) is a story about a rich life of moving from place to place as part of work, including as a clergyman, teacher, and a CN train employee. It highlights the key role of various modes of transportation in the history of Newfoundland and Labrador. Featuring Ron Lee. “A Family on the Move.” (2019). A digital story exploring the impact of mobility on a family of mobile workers from New Harbour, NL where the husband, Aiden, works as a seaman on tankers, the wife, Zula, drives a long daily commute as a nurse, and their son, Andre, works on a Coast Guard vessel. <https://www.onthemovepartnership.ca/results/digital-stories/>

“The Last Generation” (August 2020.) is a film about the St. John's Branch of the CN Pensioners' Association. It tells the story of what it was like to work in CN's varied transportation and communication services, which comprised telegraphy, rail, marine, trucking and buses. The narrators also describe what it felt like when CN closed down in Newfoundland and Labrador and the role the pensioners' association has played since. This “last generation” supports ongoing connections among former CN workers and their spouses and upholds the memory of this important part of the province's history. Featuring Jane Churchill King, Arthur King, David Boland, Victor Wiseman, Wayne Greenland, Captain Joe Prim, Graham Hill, Harold Piercey, Gilbert Oakley, Stephen Best, William Penney. Director: Sharon Roseman. Producers and Editors: Sharon Roseman and Lesley Butler. Associate Producer: Derek Norman. Camera and Sound Recording: Derek Norman and Lesley Butler. Research: Sharon Roseman and Lesley Butler, as part of the On the Move Partnership. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences Film Unit, 2019 and 2020, with support from SSHRC, InnovateNL and CFI

“A Family on the Move” (2019) is a digital story exploring the impact of mobility on a family of mobile workers from New Harbour, NL where the husband, Aiden, works as a seaman on tankers, the wife, Zula, drives a long daily commute as a nurse, and their son, Andre, works on a Coast Guard vessel. Director / Producer: Martin Beirne; Co-producers George Gmelch and Derek Norman; Camera Ian McGuire; Researchers: George Gmelch and Diane Royal. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences 2019, with support from SSHRC, InnovateNL and CFI.

“Making the Rounds: Ron Lee's Lifetime of Service” (2019) is a story about a rich life of moving from place to place as part of work, including as a clergyman, teacher, and a CN train employee. It highlights the key role of various modes of transportation in the history of Newfoundland and Labrador. Featuring Ron Lee. Director: Sharon Roseman. Producers and Editors: Sharon Roseman and Lesley Butler. Associate Producer: Derek Norman. Camera and Sound Recording: Derek Norman, Lesley Butler, Sharon Roseman. Research: Sharon Roseman and Lesley Butler, as part of the On the Move Partnership. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences Film Unit, 2019, with support from SSHRC, InnovateNL and CFI.

“Stories Would Be Told: The Commuting Career of Kay Coxworthy.” (2018). A story about work-related commuting on the ferry between Bell Island and Portugal Cove, and the powerful role of place, community, and storytelling in commuters' lives. Featuring Kay Coxworthy. Director: Sharon Roseman. Producers and Editors: Sharon Roseman and Lesley Butler. Associate Producer: Derek Norman. Camera and Sound Recording: Derek Norman, Sharon Roseman, Diane Royal. Research: Sharon Roseman, Diane Royal, and Lesley Butler. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. On the Move Partnership, Memorial University, St. John's, NL.

“Home and at Sea: A Newfoundland Story.” (2018). A digital story about one young Newfoundland family's experience of family life when one partner and parent is away at sea for extended periods. Featuring Ryan and Lesley Gates. Producer and Editor: Maria Delgado. Co-producers: George Gmelch and Dennis Lanson. Camera: Dennis Lanson. Research: George Gmelch and Diane Royal. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. On the Move Partnership, Memorial University, St. John's, NL.

“Living the Turnaround Life.” (2018). A digital story about one young couple's experiences of family life when one half of the couple works away on a “2-weeks on, 1-week off” turnaround. Producers: Dennis Lanson and Ian McGuire; Co-producer/Editor: Sara Alghesheyan; Researchers: George Gmelch and Diane Royal; Research/Production Assistants: Andrew Lincoln and Jacqueline Cepeda; Associate Producer: Derek Norman. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social. On the Move Partnership, Memorial University, St. John's NL.

“Working Away.” (2018). A digital story about a young father and husband who works at sea. Featuring Tommy Doyle. Director/Editor: Ian McGuire. Producers: Dennis Lanson and George Gmelch. Research: George Gmelch. Produced at Memorial University, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. On the Move Partnership, Memorial University, St. John’s, NL.

“Bob and Pauline’s Story.” (2017). A digital story about work-related mobility in rural Newfoundland. Producers: Andrew Lincoln and Jacqueline Cepeda. Camera: Dennis Lanson. Editor: Derek Norman.
